Sydac is a full solution house, developing Australian intellectual property and customising and integrating third party products to produce system solutions.

Sydac has developed a wide variety of immersive solutions ranging from simple part task trainers, web-based CBT featuring embedded interactive simulations and immersive vehicle driving simulators through to fully collaborative multi-trainee virtual environments.

Complementing its technical knowledge, Sydac has assembled a team of experienced trainers who have specialised in simulation-based training. These trainers have been responsible for implementing some of the most successful simulator-based training programs in Australia and have been recognised in their achievements by national awards and honours. They provide an important link between the developers and users of simulation products. This level of experience gives the Sydac team an unrivalled understanding of simulation based training issues
